Founders Day 2002

Traditions

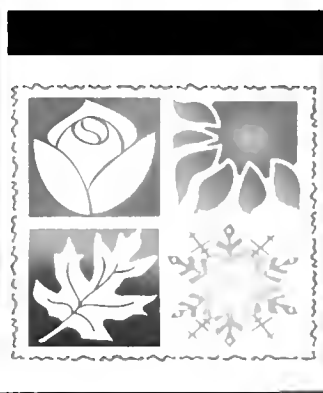

Once a year, on Founders Day, the entire school pays tribute to the founders of our college. To celebrate this tradition the seniors, led by sophomores, put on their formal graduation gowns and hike up Monument Hill. Once atop Monument Hill, the seniors commemorate the inspiration for our college, Daisy Williams. The seniors show their appreciation through songs and by placing daisies on Daisy's grave.

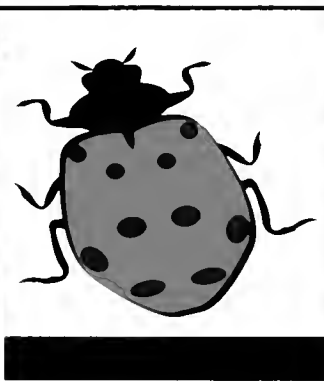

As newcomers to college, freshmen Chris Murphy, Abby Adams, Joanna Woods, Amy St. John, and Sara Stapleton prepare to beat the sophomores in the rock and hitching post fight.

The Rock and Hitching Post Fight

Sweet Briar has been built upon everlasing traditions, one being the famous rock and hitching post fight. During this fight, the freshmen and sophomores battle it out, trying to claim the rock and their territory painting the rock and the hitching post with their class colors.

Learning on the Land

Learning on the Land is a specially designed orientation weekend for first-year students. During Learning on the Land, first-years get to bond with their new classmates and explore the natural beauty that Sweet Briar has to offer. Following Learning on the Land, there is a beautiful ceremony during which upperclass women pass on the "torch" to the first year students.

Preceding the passing of the torch ceremony, the freshmen hang their torches (glowsticks) proudly around their necks.

Serenading the picnickers while they ate dinner, this trio added a special touch to this years' learning on the land.

All Play and No Work

In honor of Olevia Neary's 21st birthday, Olevia and Carrie get dressed up to go out on the town.

Kicking off the year with a bang, freshmen get into the Sweet Briar spirit.

Refusing to eat at Prothro, Allison, Stephanie, Samara, Margaret, Ingrid, Katy, Anne, Emma Kate, Michi, Sandra, Lisa, and Annie had dinner at Applebee's before the first Dell Party.

Celebrating a girls night out, Courtney, Margaret, Sandra, Lisa, and Michi enjoy dinner at a quaint Italian restaurant in Washington D.C.

All dressed up to go out for Leia Manuel's 20th Birthday, Leia , Tiffany McCabe, Kristin Trayer, Sasha Levine, and Jamie Jensen stop to snap a quick photo to remember the big night.

Eagerly awaiting the start of the Dell Party, Tamara Himelright, Hailey Hickman, and Abby Sills smile for the camera.

What are you going to miss the...

MOST

I remember the first few weeks that we were at Sweet Briar. It did not rain for several weeks. Even if a small thunderstorm developed during the afternoon, the sun would come back out before dusk. I was completely certain that the sun came out at least once everyday at Sweet Briar. In fact I even called my mother to tell her that, "it never rains at Sweet Briar." Well, after four years I have realized that not only does it rain at SBC but it pours, sometimes for days on end. It also sleets, is overcast, not to mention the occasional blizzard. I quickly found that my weather predictions were not entirely accurate. Though there were many rainy days, somehow being at Sweet Briar always made me feel as if the sun was shining. In fact in all of my memories the sun is shining (or it's dark and I'm at a party:)! So here's to the Class of 2003. The last class to be at Sweet Briar in the 20th century. We rode with Paul Cronin, ate in the "old" Prothro for two years and were the first class to have freshman seminars and the dreaded general education requirements. We remember the Centennial Gala and the visit by Sally Ride. We helped design the student commons and we stepped aside while the seniors before us walked through the senior doors. We are truly a part of something special, something that very few people in the world are a part of. So "Cheers" to the Class of 2003! Thank you for giving me the best four years of my life thus far. May you find success and may all of your memories be sunny! - Kim Martin 03
Co-Editor Briar Patch Yearbook

The thing I'm going to miss most about SBC is sitting down in prothro and staying until 7 at dinner. Old or new prothro, it doesn't matter. My friends and I would just drink coffee and talk about nothing really, but at least it was time where we could all be together!

Jax

Long talks with my friends, Boat
House parties, trips over that faithful mountain to see our handsome cadets, sledding down the dell, Dell Parties, step singing, knowing that even after graduation and we've all gone our separate ways that we will always have a bond that will keep us connected and that's Sweet Briar.

Faculty and Staff

It's been a long time since all the professors have been in the yearbook. This is the first time in 12 years that an attempt was made to hunt down all employees of the college. Why is this so important? Because without them, Sweet Briar is just one big year-round camp for girls... anyone for s'mores and ghost stories? As much as we hate getting up for that first class of the day, that professor does have an impact on us, along with the people that clean our dorm and keep the grounds nice. This is why it's important to add them back into the yearbook...they are the foundation of Sweet Briar.

To bring this section back in style the yearbook staff thought it would be nice to show some of the pictures we found of some professors that were on campus during the 60's, 70's, and 80's. Now some of them don't know their picture is in here, so shhhhh.

Above: Professor Grimm from the 1969 yearbook. That was the first year he taught here.

Top: Professors Sadler and Beers in the 1984 Briar Patch. Bottom: Professor McNutt in the 1984 Briar Patch.

Above: Professor Leveau in a clipping from the Amherst paper in 1979. This was his first year at Sweet Briar. Below: Professor Chase in the 1984 Briar Patch.

Bottom: Professor Piepho in an 80's copy of the Briar Patch.

Many thanks to the Help Desk for helping the Briar Patch with the crazy printer and the buggy pages when the deadline brought them to a panic.

Also, I would like to thank the people who gave me the appropriate names of each staff member here at Sweet Briar. Without their help I wouldn't have been able to get all of the staff into the yearbook. Thank you very much! ~Brentz

All around the world and back
Many, many miles you've trecked
Amsterdam, Austria, Germany
Switzerland and Italy
Afraid of a bear in cold Alaska
Friends with a monkey in sunny Costa Rica
Stacking cinder blocks in Mexico
So children have a place to go
You've walked where ancient prophets roamed
And seen the temples they called home
You've marched around the might Great Wall
Stood beside pyramids so humbling and tall
Bringing smile to Chinese orphans in Tianjin
Planning a trip to do it again
At SBC you found your stride
We are all filled with pride
You've shown the love of God's own son
Now you've only just begun
A new time to quest and roam
But always our love for you at home.

SO GLAD YOU ARE MY DAUGHTER!

Congratulations to my dear, special, one of a kind and favorite daughter.

Never give up on yourself; never let anyone tell you that you cannot when the Lord has said that you can. God has much in store for you and today is only the beginning. Hold on to God, pray for yourself, and others, and you will never be lost in chaos and uncertainty you will always find your way.

You have become a beautiful young woman, strong and kind, delightful and personable -- make me so very proud. I love you very much, Mom.

I am sorry that i cannot be there for you on one of what will be many special days in your life, but you are in my heart. You did it! Love, Thonnie
